

Three Perspectives of Life

---

I have a choice between Three Perspectives of Life:

- The perspective of others
- The perspective of my Self
- The perspective of my Soul

I require the perspective and the authority of others to learn my ability as a baby or a Novice.

I require the perspective and the ability of my Self to learn my own authority as an adolescent or a Student.

I require the perspective and the authority of my Soul to learn the power of an adult or a Master.

I cannot learn to own my own authority until I have gained sufficient ability by learning from others.

I cannot learn to master my own power until I have learned to own my own authority.

Under my own authority, I attain the ability to connect to my Soul's perspective of life.

From the perspective of my Self, I have authority but no power.

Connecting to the power of my Soul requires the perspective of my Soul.

My Soul's perspective of life requires the intuitive senses of my Self to be active.

The Perspective of Others

I share the perspective of others who share the society in which I live.

It is the society in which I am raised as a baby that determines my perspective of life.

I am programmed from birth to see the world as others see it.

My perspective of life is given to me by my parents, my teachers, my ministers, my friends, my employers and my governors.

With the same perspective as other people, I share their reality; because when I share the same beliefs, I create a similar reality.

The perspective of other people allows me to feel included, safe, comfortable and liked.

Conforming to the perspective of others is an essential stage in life that enables me to learn to live life in the physical without resistance from other people.

It is essential to adopt the perspective of others until I am able to choose my own independent path with both authority & power.

The Perspective of my Self

Independent ability allows me to choose the perspective of my Self.

For my perspective to become my own, I am required to challenge the perspective of others.

Challenging the perspective of others allows me to challenge and change my own belief system.

Until I challenge, change and own all of my beliefs, I am operating under the same beliefs and therefore the authority and perspective of other people.

With my own beliefs and my own perspective, I am creating my own reality.

As I change my perspective, I change my beliefs and I change my reality.

My reality is a projection of my perspective of my beliefs made manifest.

Reality is a manifestation of my beliefs put into perspective.

It is the realisation of the manifestation of the perspective of my Self.

I can choose to live in someone else's reality or my own.

The Perspective of my Soul

The Perspective of my Soul sees my ideal world.

My Soul perceives my ideal world intuitively.

My Self has the choice and the opportunity to choose my ideal world experientially.

The opportunity to master life from the perspective of my Soul is to see life intuitively as my Soul sees, feels and knows my life to be.

I see my life from the perspective of my Soul when my Self & my Soul are in alignment.

When in alignment with my Soul, I am able to utilise the creative power of my Soul.

The creative power of my Soul is aligned with the authority of my Soul.

With my Soul's perspective comes my Soul's authority.

With my Soul's authority and the ability of my Self, I have the power to live an ideal life as I choose it to be.

I can choose my ideal life myself when my choice is in alignment with my Soul's perspective of a life that is ideal for its Self.

The perspective of my Soul is powered by love and authorised with wisdom.

Keith Collins

The Inner Coach

March 2012

keith@theinnercoach.eu